KH Teka is a modern grotesque with a rigid approach to how curves, details and metrics are applied. It is designed in close collaboration with the brilliant minds at Kurppa Hosk, which has heavily informed the design into being a versatile workhorse of a typeface. Truly a “by designers, for designers” kind of thing. It comes in five weights with corresponding italics and has a wide range of opentype features. The character set is extensive and counts in on 871 glyphs, including a wide variety of alternates, arrows, currency symbols and number variations.

KH Teka will be an evolving family of fonts, and the upcoming planned additions are varying widths, extended language support and a monospaced version.
